get complete pdf at learnexams.com

Final EMT Exam (Latest 2023/ 2024 Update) Questions and Verified Answers| 100% Correct | Already Graded A

Q: You are treating a middle-aged man with chest discomfort. He has a history of three previous heart attacks and takes nitroglycerin as needed for chest pain. You have standing orders to administer aspirin to patients with suspected cardiac-related chest pain or discomfort. While your partner is preparing to give oxygen to the patient, you should:

Answer:
confirm that the patient is not allergic to aspirin, give him the appropriate dose of aspirin, and document the time and dose given

Q: Which of the following medication routes has the slowest rate of absorption?

Answer:
oral

learnexams

Q: When gathering a patient's medications, you find the following: Isordil, Lasix, Nexium, and digoxin. Which of these medications can be obtained over-the-counter (OTC)?

Answer:
Nexium

Q: Which of the following clinical signs is unique to anaphylactic shock?

Answer:
Wheezing

LEARNEXAMS.COM

get complete pdf at learnexams.com

Q: A 70-year-old female was recently discharged from the hospital following a total hip replacement. Today, she presents with restlessness, tachycardia, and a blood pressure of 100/64 mm Hg. Her skin is hot and moist. You should be MOST suspicious that she is experiencing:

Answer:
septic shock

Q: Abdominal thrusts in a conscious child or adult with a severe upper airway obstruction are performed:

Answer:
until he or she loses consciousness

Q: Which of the following statements regarding ventricular fibrillation (V-fib) is correct?

Answer:
V-fib results in an absence of forward blood flow

learnexams

Q: Which of the following is NOT a BLS intervention?

Answer:
cardiac monitoring

Q: Which of the following statements regarding hepatitis A is correct?

Answer:
Hepatitis A can only be transmitted by a patient who has an acute infection

LEARNEXAMS.COM

get complete pdf at learnexams.com

Q: A 58-year-old man complains of chest discomfort and nausea. He is conscious and alert; his blood pressure is 140/90 mm Hg, his pulse is 104 beats/min, and his respirations are 16 breaths/min. Your partner has applied supplemental oxygen. Prior to assisting the patient with one of his prescribed nitroglycerin tablets, you ask him if he takes medication to treat erectile dysfunction (ED) and he tells you that he does. You should:

Answer:
ask him what he takes, how much, and when he last took it

Q: When assessing for fluid collection in the lungs during auscultation of lung sounds, you should:

Answer:
start at the lower lung fields and determine at which level you start hearing clear breath sounds

Q: You are dispatched to a residence for a 67-year-old female who was awakened by shortness of breath and sharp chest pain. Her husband tells you that she as recently discharged from the hospital after having hip surgery. Your assessment reveals dried blood around her mouth, facial cyanosis, and an oxygen saturation of 88%. You should suspect:

learnexams

Answer:
acute pulmonary embolism

Q: The left ventricle has the thickest walls because it:

Answer:
pumps blood into the aorta and systemic circulation

Q: Prompt transport of a patient with a suspected AMI is important because:

Answer:
the patient may be eligible to receive thrombolytic therapy

LEARNEXAMS.COM